

Re: Construction Management

The Architecture, Industrial Design Engineering, Manufacturing department of the Mt. San Antonio College Technology and Health division has proposed a new Construction Management program. The Center of Excellence provided a labor market assessment for the proposed program and noted that there are “3,973 jobs available annually in the region” and only “356 awards conferred annually by educational institutions in the region”. As part of the collegial outreach process, the college outreach has included:

List of colleges proposed to be contacted for collegial consultation:

Citrus College – Construction Management
